Quote from Preface of The Actor's Business Plan: A Career Guide for the Acting Life by Jane Drake Brody

"We drift from show to show with no real focus on where we wish to end up. I never realized that unless I planned my life—life would plan it for me."

Brody, Jane Drake. The Actor's Business Plan: a Career Guide for the Acting Life. Bloomsbury, 2017.

Mrs. Brody's Guide to a Happy Career and Life

1. Support and collaboration with your peers is an essential element of success. Don't go it alone!
2. One needs a dream larger than one's own desire for fame or money to fuel any project over a long period of time.
3. Very little happens without a mentor, someone who knows more than you.
4. Planning, attention to detail, and tedious labor within a framework produces success.
5. It is not about money, but if you follow your impulses, money may come. Be careful when it does.
6. Luck comes when you are working very hard and often when you are expecting something else.
7. Without integrity you will grow sad.
8. It is the work that matters.

Quote

“The idea that “If you have talent, you will make it” is absurd. The people who “make it” may or may not have talent, but they do have a dedication to their craft, lots of grit, stamina, dogged determination, and a sense of humor about it all. To quote Dame Judi Dench, ‘I think you should take your job seriously, but not yourself. That is the best combination.’”

Dreaming is a Form of Planning

- Envision at least six or more dreams concerning your career as an artist. Write them down on paper (or electronically). Do NOT edit them.
- Don't be ashamed of your dreams; they're not silly.
- You are allowed to think selfishly.

- Examples:
 - Appear as a regular on Saturday Night Live
 - Design lights for a new Broadway show
 - Win an Oscar or a Tony for writing, directing, performing, lights, costuming, sound . . .
 - Start a production company
 - Be a regular on a sitcom
 - Create work with underprivileged children and make the world better
 - Write and produce your own films
 - Star in a blockbuster film
- Now go back through the list you wrote first and take 10 minutes or so to get specific
 - Do you want to do Shakespeare?
 - Do you want to produce indie films or big, mainstream films?
 - Where do you want to live?
 - Who do you want to work with? (specific directors, designers, actors)
 - Do you want to have a family?
 - Do you dream about working at a specific theater?

ALL Your Life Dreams

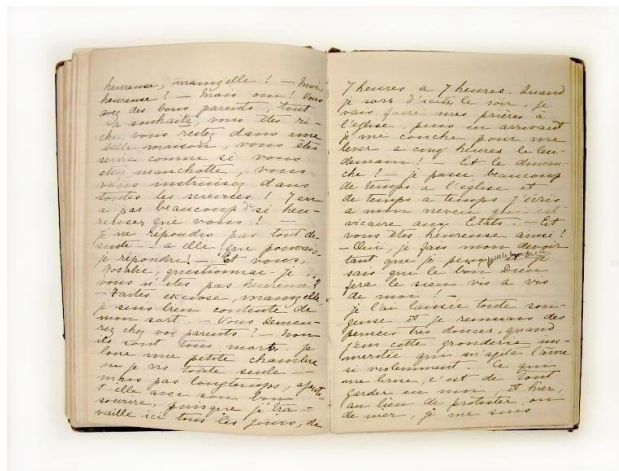

- Make a list of 6 or more dreams in each of these categories:
 - Artistic
 - Personal
 - Money
 - Day job (Artists who have a day job that they enjoy, one that gives them control over their lives, are far happier and have longer artistic lives.)
 - Education
 - Service (Service can put your life into perspective, and that is a valuable thing.)
- Remember, don't be realistic; that part will come later

- Did anything surprise you?

Put these lists into your Personal Textbook

- (to be turned in at the end of the semester)
- Feel free to spend more time on thinking about your dreams this week; add to your lists, but don't edit them
